ANNUAL REPORT

— OF —

The Superintendent of Schools

— OF THE —

TOWN OF PLAINFIELD, CONN.

JULY, 1911.

TO THE TOWN SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

Gentlemen:—

I have the honor to submit to you the Sixth Annual Report of the Superintendent of Schools.

The work in the schools during the past year has progressed along lines similar to those indicated in the Superintendent's Report of one year ago. We have had no serious interruptions, and in general the schools have made good progress in the several studies prescribed. The graded schools have been in session 182 days, and the High School, 187 days. At the beginning of the year seven new teachers were engaged to take the places left vacant by resignations. During the year four teachers left, for various reasons, and others were engaged to take their places. This year we have had to engage nine new teachers to fill vacancies and there are two transfers.

The large number of changes in teachers each year is detrimental to the progress of the work. From two to four months are required for the teacher to become acquainted with her school and with the lines of work as pursued in the various departments, and this has a noticeable effect upon the thoroughness of our system and the amount of ground covered.

On the other hand, our schools have improved in attendance, and especially in promptness. We recorded but 670 cases of tardiness during the year as against 1030 last year. Two years ago the number of tardy marks was 1432; five years ago there were 2700. There were in all the schools an aggregate of 20,978 half-days of absence as against 23,412 for the previous year.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

Our total enrollment, 1077, was ten less than in 1909-10, but our average attendance, 813.6, was eight greater than in 1909-10. Percentage of average attendance to average membership was .938 as against .920 for the year before.

The cost per pupil, based on average attendance, was $23.84, only three cents greater than in 1909-10. In average attendance, Plainfield is the thirty-fourth town in the State. In cost per pupil based upon average attendance, Plainfield is the one hundred and fifty-eighth town in the State, there being only ten towns in the whole State where less per scholar is expended, as based on the average attendance. In 1909, our cost per pupil was $23.80; the average for the State was $31.58.

In the number of children enumerated, Plainfield is the twenty-eighth town. In cost per pupil, based upon enumeration, Plainfield is the one hundred and sixty-second town.

It is evident from the above figures that the town of Plainfield is far from extravagant in its expenditures for public schools. Whether we are doing as much as we ought in this line is an open question. Certainly we are considerably below the average for the State.

The Curriculum.

In the past ten years the studies in our schools have remained the same. They are only what is required by State Law and while we have improved our methods, and enlarged the field of work in some studies, and have made much progress in the co-ordination of the various subjects taught, we have not yet a curriculum that is as broad and rich as it should be.

The Superintendent has, in previous reports, recommended the advisability of putting the subjects of music and drawing in our course of study. These subjects, properly taught, have a great educational value and they have proved worthy of a place in the public schools not only for themselves, but for their effect on other lines of work. This report does not present the opportunity for a brief for these subjects, but their place is so well established in the public school that they need no apology and no argument. We are sadly behind other places in this respect, and I trust that the time is not far distant when we shall remedy this defect in our curriculum.

That the community should receive a dollar's worth of education for every dollar expended is just and right, but we should not forget that our boys and girls are entitled to the best education we can provide. It is the duty as well as the privilege of those who are charged with the administration of public affairs to see that we are doing all that can be done for the youth of the commonwealth and the community.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

The Superintendent has no wish to overload the curriculum, but he has little credence for the "bogy" of overstudy. Work does not kill. Study does not break down. Bad habits, late hours, and inattention to the laws of health are in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of one thousand responsible for those ills of youth usually attributed to overstudy. If the school or the teacher is responsible for the ill health or nervous breakdown of the pupil, the responsibility lies in not having taught the pupil that right habits, right food and plenty of sleep are essential, not alone to success in life, but to life itself.

The town and city bred child of to-day has less opportunity for healthful and refreshing forms of exercise than has the child living on a farm. In our graded schools there is less opportunity for the teacher to become acquainted with the individuality of each pupil, hence it is necessary that we teach to all the common principles of hygiene and health, and that we do our part toward building up strong bodies and healthful ideas in our pupils. The work of our public schools, properly planned and carried out should aim not simply to store the mind with knowledge but should teach concentration of purpose, conservation of energy and domination of the body by the will. Our system of government demands men and women who are strong, physically and mentally; citizens who can think and act for themselves, who are not content to do as they are told, but who act upon their own knowledge of conditions and who are fearless to do, because they know that what they do is right. Any system of education that does not keep these principles clearly in view must necessarily be a failure.

High School.

Secondary education, has thus far reached only the few. Only twenty-seven per cent of children remain in school after their sixteenth year. Yet the public high school has performed an important part in education within the past few years and its influence is growing greater.

Our High School is now one of the best equipped small high schools in the State of Connecticut. The State Inspector in his last report spoke of the work done here in terms of high commendation, and the record of our pupils during the past year is one of which we may well be proud. Not only did the first prize, offered by the Society of Colonial Dames of Connecticut for the best essay on some subject connected with colonial times, go to one of our pupils, but we received, also, three certificates of merit for other essays, more than were received by any other high school in the State. There were presented in competition, 158 different essays from 36 different towns.

While there were no boys in our graduating class this year, the record of the class was exceptionally high, and were the same opportunity to go to college, available for girls, as for boys, we should have at least two pupils who would enter college another year. No greater philanthropy can be found for anyone interested in the town of Plainfield than to establish in some college a scholarship for girls on a basis similar to the Milner Scholarship in Yale. Perhaps, when the Woman's College at New London is an established fact, some one may come forward with such a scholarship. It would mean much to the donor, but far more to the girls of the town of Plainfield in years to come.

Twenty-six pupils graduated from our eighth grades in June. Seven pupils from other schools have successfully passed the entrance examinations for admission to high school. There are thirteen applicants from other towns who, as yet, have not succeeded in passing the requisite subjects for admission. Probably half this number will work off their conditions at the fall examination, but a number of pupils from Sterling and from Canterbury, who have applied, fail to show evidence of sufficient preparation to warrant their admission.

To admit pupils who have not had good foundation work in the grammar school studies is inadvisable, an injustice to the pupil, himself, to other pupils in his class, and an injury to the school.

Ever since Plainfield High school was established our policy has been, not to admit pupils unless they showed evidence of thorough preparation in arithmetic, language, geography, history and spelling; and from year to year it has been found necessary to strengthen our requirements in order to keep our standard up to that of the best high schools in the State. In our own graded schools we have raised the standard of work required for graduation to meet our high school requirements, but we have been obliged to reject a number of pupils from other towns who did not approximate to the necessary standard.

Experience has shown us that it is far more advantageous for a boy or girl of insufficient preparation to repeat the work of the last year in grammar school, than it is for such a pupil to enter high school unprepared and fail during his freshman year. By having pupils with good grounding in the grammar school subjects much more can be accomplished in the high school in each year of the course.

Penmanship.

The Houston Penmanship system was introduced last fall and the results obtained have been remarkable. All teachers have taken the correspondence course in writing given by the Danbury Normal School, and Mr. Houston has personally looked over the papers prepared by the pupils each month in all the schools in town. He has twice addressed all the teachers in town on the work in writing, and has given a great deal of practical help to all the schools. The improvement in the writing of the pupils has been marked from month to month, and should continue to improve during the coming year. All teachers, new to the town, should take this penmanship course, and every teacher should submit to Mr. Houston the work of her pupils from time to time in order that he may point out the errors and suggest lines for improvement. If this is done we can make the penmanship a notable feature in our schools.

During the year several teachers' meetings have been held to discuss the work of the schools in various subjects. It is the purpose of the Superintendent to have semi-monthly meetings this year devoted to the discussion of the work in some particular subject. We wish to get better results in reading, language and number work in our lower grades, and in arithmetic, history, geography and language in our upper grades. The more time that the Superintendent can spend in the various class rooms and the more frequently he can meet with the teachers to talk over the work of the various classes the better will be the results obtained.

With the library fund we have added to our list of reference books both in the High School and in the grades, and each succeeding year should materially increase the number of reference books in our schools. We are better off in this respect than we were two or three years ago, but we still need more books on geography, history and literature than we now have. Books on scientific subjects and on natural history are also needed, and will be supplied as fast as funds for their purchase are available.

When we occupy the new school building at Plainfield the contrast between the sanitary provisions in this school and those in other parts of the town will be strongly emphasized. As the Superintendent has stated in previous reports, running water, wash bowls, and modern closets are necessities for schools as large as Moosup. They are not luxuries but are means for conserving and maintaining the health of the pupils and preventing the spread of contagious diseases. The common drinking cup has been abolished from trains and public buildings generally. The common dipper has no place in a modern school.

As usual the general facts regarding, attendance, cost per pupil, and other matters relating to the statistics of the schools will be found in the table accompanying this report. We look forward to the coming year as another opportunity to accomplish for our schools all that may be possible toward training our young people into strong, efficient men and women who shall serve faithfully and well their community and their Nation, and shall live not for themselves alone but for the betterment of all mankind.

Respectfully submitted,

J. L. CHAPMAN.
